

Heather Woodward

Author, Clairvoyant, Psychometrist, Paranormal Investigator

Heather Woodward is an author, a clairvoyant, an "accidental" medium, and a psychometrist. Since 1996, she has performed tarot readings, paranormal investigations and psychic profiling - helping others with her born-given gifts for over 12 years.

Heather is the author of Ghosts of Central Arizona, a book about her personal experiences in some of the most haunted and supernatural locations in Sedona, Jerome, Cottonwood and surrounding areas.

Heather produced, edited and directed the paranormal documentary, Dead House, which regularly hits the top 20 best selling DVD rank on Amazon in the Supernatural category.

Dead House is about a haunted house with a chilling history of witchcraft located La Conchita, California. The film was featured at the 2008 Dead of Winter Festival, hosted by Troy Taylor.

Heather is the host of The Psychic Connection, a weekly online radio show exploring such topics as psychic development, tarot, divination, witchcraft, spirituality, and all things supernatural. The one-hour radio show airs on Sunday nights at 6:30 p.m. PST on Blog Talk Radio.

Over the years, Heather has been interviewed as a guest on television, film, radio and print for her knowledge in the paranormal and psychic development.

She teaches a practical psychic development class at Pima Community College in Tucson, Arizona and writes an online metaphysical and paranormal column for the Tucson Examiner.

Take a ghostly road tour of Central Arizona. Ghoulish legends and the author's personal experiences make for an entertaining — and sometimes scary — trip. Visit the Jerome Grand Hotel and stay in one of their "Death Rooms." Travel through vortexes at Bell Rock and Boynton Canyon. Learn about the ghost sightings at the Chapel of the Holy Cross and, if you get hungry, the Haunted Hamburger serves up a good ghost tale. From Superstition Mountain to Flagstaff, with just a touch of "Hollywood in Arizona" legend thrown in for good measure, you will experience Central Arizona's ghost stories. So come along for the ride ... if you dare.
